integrator = returns the average absolute value over a specific time frame (one may use RMS measures, instead, or other amplitude-following methods); output range is [0, 1]